Galvin Testifies At Murder Trial

Rosendale Physician Says Bullet Did Not Kill Woman at Once

Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale, who served some three years in the U. S. Army in the European theatre of operations with the Third Auxiliary Group and treated over 1,000 cases of gunshot wounds, testified this morning at the Theodore Lutzel murder trial in County Court.

Testifying from his experience in treating combat cases, Dr. Galvin said it was his opinion that Ruth S. Bergemann did not die immediately from the two bullet wounds which he found in the body. He testified that in his opinion she was alive when the second shot was fired and that she did not then die immediately.

Dr. Galvin, who has been the Bergemann family physician for several years and had treated Ruth S. Bergemann for a severe case of asthma, assisted Dr. Taylor at the autopsy which was performed last November 27, the day of the shooting.

Based on Experience

Dr. Galvin said he based his opinion that Ruth S. Bergemann did not die immediately from the head wounds on his army experience. He said he had treated many head wounds of this nature and many men were still alive today who had suffered similar wounds. He said he had treated some time prior to the time they were treated by him and in some cases the man had been brought back several miles from forward dressing stations and after having such head injuries treated they had survived.

Dr. Galvin testified he had been in the Medical Corps and accompanied the troops on combat duty over a wide area and had treated at least 1,000 combat casualties prior to the time his medical unit was captured and he became a "guest of Italy". Much of his observation and many conclusions in the present case were based on his wide experience with gunshot wounds in the army, many of which he said had been head injuries.

Late Bulletin

Hudson Falls, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—A man's body found in the sluiceway of a dam was identified today as that of Royal Nichols, 50, of Glen Falls, whose truck plunged into the Hudson river Nov. 17.

The body was discovered yesterday, caught on a loose plank. State Police used ropes to recover it today.

Nichols' brother, Edward, made the identification.

The dam is about two miles from the bridge Nichols' truck ran off.

Party Wing Lauds Veto Of Kerr Bill

President Is Labelled 'Champion of People' by Some Democrats, Others Critical

'Politics' Is Cry

Ellender Says His Act Purely Expedient in Nature

Washington, April 17 (AP)—An applauding wing of his party prepared a champion-of-the-people campaign role for President Truman today on the strength of his veto of the Kerr natural gas bill.

Mr. Truman killed the bill Saturday in an action critics labeled as "purely political" and supporters said was "sound and timely."

The measure would have prevented the Federal Power Commission from regulating the sales of natural gas by so-called independents, who produce 80 per cent of the product but don't operate pipelines.

Congress approved the bill despite charges by opponents that it would pave the way for an increase in the price of gas to consumers. While its proponents denied this vigorously, Mr. Truman made clear that was on his mind when he sent the bill back to Congress labeled "not in the public interest."

Unless the independents are subject to federal regulation, the President said, "there is a clear possibility that competition will not be effective, at least in some cases, in holding prices to reasonable levels."

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.), one of the measure's chief opponents, put into words the thought of some Democrats who want Mr. Truman to array himself as a champion of the little fellow in this year's campaign for control of Congress.

Said Douglas: "God bless the President of the United States. He has once again shown he is the true defender of the common people."

Calls Move 'Political'

Said Senator Ellender (D-La.), who supported the measure: "I think the President's veto was purely political."

Said Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), "The President has made a mistake. Time will prove that the consuming areas which need abundant supplies of natural gas will receive less gas and at high (Continued on Page 15, Col. 4)

John Mayr Keeps 'Date' at Local Hospital; Pal Is Held

A Kingston youth, 18, kept a "date" in the Kingston Hospital emergency room Saturday afternoon by ordering a friend to shoot him in the thigh, according to a bizarre story related by Identification Officer Leonard Belmont of the sheriff's office.

Belmont said the youth left his girl friend at the hospital at 4 p. m., telling her he would see her in the emergency room at 6 o'clock.

The 18-year-old youth was identified as John Mayr, of 5 Wurts street, Belmont said. His condition today is "good," the hospital authorities reported.

The name of the girl was not revealed by the sheriff's office. She is an employee of the hospital, Belmont said.

The sheriff's office was notified of the shooting after Mayr's companion, whom authorities said was William Robert Pagan, 19, of 91 Hone street, came out of the woods near Connelly and flagged an unidentified motorist about 5 p. m. Saturday. The motorist called the ambulance in response to Pagan's plea that "my buddy just got shot in the woods," Belmont said.

Police Nab Four Week-end Speeders

Local police continued watchful of speeders in the city over the week-end and arrested four between Saturday night and this morning.

One was arrested for speeding on North Front street at 1:55 a. m. today and another at 3:15 a. m. for stepping on the gas on Broadway.

The arrests early Sunday morning were on Albany avenue and Broadway near Cedar street. The arrests today were by Officers Clarence Stickles and George Loughran and those Sunday by Officers Francis Pagan and George Dougherty and Walter VanSteenburgh and Charles Hoching.

Three of the speeding drivers paid fines of $15 when they appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and the other forfeited $20 bail.

Papal Press Denies Pact Was Signed

Statement Says Nothing Is Known in Rome of Agreement; Time Is Pointed Out

Bishops Are Cited

Polish Agency Declares Three Officials Honor Agreement

Vatican City, April 17 (AP)—The Vatican Press Office denied today that the Roman Catholic hierarchy of Poland has signed an agreement with the Polish Communist government. Warsaw announced such a pact Saturday.

A Vatican Press Office statement said "nothing is known here of any such agreement. The circumstances and contents of the accord in question (as reported in Warsaw dispatches) preclude any foundation to the news."

Vatican sources pointed out that the accord was announced after Poland's leading Catholic prelate, Adam Stefan Cardinal Sapieha, had left the country. The cardinal, now in Rome, declined comment on reports of a Polish church-state accord.

A high Vatican source said if such a pact had been promulgated, it would indicate that the Polish government had laid down a "way of death" for the church there. This source, who holds the title of canonical consultant of the prewar Polish Embassy at the Holy See, questioned whether Catholic bishops would sign such a pact.

The Polish government announcement said three bishops had signed an accord in which religious freedom in Poland was promised in return for a church pledge to fight enemies of the Warsaw regime.

Bishops' Signatures Reported

The controlled Polish News Agency said the agreement was signed by the suffragan bishop of Warsaw, Zygmunt Chodzinski, as secretary of the Council of Bishops, and two other bishops.

The Vatican source said that a similar announcement was made by the Communist-led regime in Hungary about a year ago, but that it was later learned that the Hungarian Catholic prelates had not put their signatures to the accord.

The three Polish bishops who reportedly signed the accord, said the source, had in fact been named to negotiate with the Polish government on the accord.

"But," he said, "we do not know if they were given the right to sign."

Adding to the Vatican's misgivings was the fact that the announcement of the accord came when Vatican-Polish relations had hit a low point.

The Polish Vatican source here described the accord, as reported here, as a "one-way street" in which the church surrenders much and the government assures nothing.

Although the announced agreement was widely displayed in the Polish press it was not mentioned in the pulpits of Warsaw's leading Catholic churches yesterday.

Disposed of Activities

The Communist Party's Trybuna Ludu claimed that the agreement finally disposed of the anti-state activities of some of the clergy and other newspapers hailed the accord in a similar vein.

Announced 25 days after the government seized 700 square miles of farm lands belonging to the Catholic Church in Poland.

The agreement called for setting up an administration of church funds which would assist church institutions financially and provide for the monetary needs of the episcopate.

The accord as announced in Warsaw declares that the church will combat "the criminal activities of underground hands and will condemn and punish by canon law clergy taking part in any underground or anti-state act."

Priests are required under the pact to encourage the people to increase their work of reconstruction.

Governor Signs Pari-Mutuel Bill Affecting 'Takes'

Five Per Cent Maximum Will Be Cut to 4 in '52; Drops Until Rate Is One

Albany, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—The tax that cities and counties may levy on pari-mutuel betting at horse race tracks will be pared down from five to one per cent, by 1955.

Governor Dewey signed today a bill providing for a gradual reduction.

The present five per cent maximum will be cut to four per cent in 1952, to three per cent in 1953, to two per cent in 1954, and to one per cent in 1955. The taxing authority expires at the end of 1955.

The levy applies only to flat tracks. It was first authorized in 1946.

The state's only flat tracks are in New York city and Nassau and Saratoga counties. All have been levying the local tax.

Last year, New York city collected $1,075,426 from the pari-mutuel tax. Nassau county got $3,280,517 and Saratoga county received $830,704.

Spring Displays Less Temperament For Most of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

The spring weather is something to cheer about almost everywhere over the nation today.

The only subfreezing temperatures were in the northeastern states and along a narrow band southwestward into eastern Kentucky, where Corbin reported a low of 29 degrees.

Elsewhere, the mercury had climbed to at least seasonal levels.

Most benefited area, probably is the wheatland of the Great Plains where a week-end of rains had ended any further immediate threat of widespread dust storms. The moisture was locally heavy in some parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Bronx Man Killed Accidentally by Companion Sunday

Paul Maratos Is Victim Near Woodland Valley; Friend May Face Hunting Charges

A 23-year-old Bronx man was accidentally shot and killed Sunday morning while he and a 16-year-old companion were roaming in the woods near Woodland Valley, state police reported.

State police and Coroner Michael Galletta identified the dead man as Paul Maratos, 23, of 1172 Morrison avenue, the Bronx.

Coroner Galletta declared death to be accidental. Cause of death was listed as a punctured lung causing internal hemorrhage.

Sergeants N. W. Hillfrank and Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Ray Dunn searched for more than three hours before they found the body of Maratos, who apparently struggled some 20 yards from the scene of the shooting before he collapsed and died.

Troopers said Maratos and Emanuel Golemis, 16, of 808 Metcalf avenue, Bronx, had left their homes about 4 a. m. Sunday in an automobile to do some target practicing near Woodland Valley.

About 9 a. m. they entered the woods, and about 11 a. m., as they were walking over a slight rise in the ground, Golemis accidentally squeezed the trigger and the gun discharged, the bullet from the 22 calibre rifle striking Maratos just below the right shoulder, troopers said.

Golemis ran for help to the home of Caroline Wilcox of Woodland Valley, from where Conservation Department officials and state troopers were notified.

Golemis led troopers, Game Protection Henry Benjamin and Robert Greene and Calvin Smith, to a Woodland Valley residence, to the scene about four and a half miles from the campsite, but they did not find Maratos' body until about 3 p. m.

Fell Over Cliff

The body was discovered by Smith at the bottom of a cliff, where he apparently fell while trying to reach help, troopers reported.

The body was turned over to the Eugene Gornley funeral home in Phenicia. Funeral arrangements will be made.

Golemis was not held by troopers, but Sgt. Hillfrank reported this morning the case had been turned over to Conservation Department officials for investigation of a possible charge of hunting without a license. Game Protector Benjamin is conducting the investigation and has not submitted his report as yet.

Two-Thirds Favor

New York, April 17 (AP)—A newspaper survey shows Republican leaders of 24 New York counties, with two-thirds of the delegates to the state nominating convention this fall, favor a third-term nomination for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. The New York Herald Tribune, which reported the survey results today, said the other principal finding was that John Foster Dulles is the "overwhelming favorite" of upstate G.O.P. leaders to run with Dewey for U. S. senator. The Democratic gubernatorial picture was reported muddled, but Sen. Herbert H. Lehman has unanimous backing for renomination. Dulles lost his appointive Senate seat to Lehman in last year's election.

5 Percenter Is Flanked By Lawyers

Grand Jury Accuses Him of Lying Four Times About 'His Dealings'

Vaughan's Friend

Presidential Aide Got Deep Freezers; Was Backed by Truman

Washington, April 17 (AP)—John Maragon, who used to run in and out of the White House as a friend of Presidential Aide Harry Vaughan, went on trial today on charges of lying to a Senate investigating committee.

The process of picking a jury got under way shortly after 10 a. m. in the court of U. S. District Judge Edmund Bailey.

The 51-year-old Maragon was flanked by three lawyers. He had nothing to say to reporters about what he has been doing the last few months while he has been on bail.

It took a little more than an hour to select a jury of nine men and three women. Included in the dozen were two Negroes. The defense used up all challenges to which it was entitled.

The court room was only about a third filled while the preliminary trial was on.

The nature of questions the opposing lawyers asked prospective jurors indicated the case would cover a broad field and bring in prominent names if not individuals themselves.

The prosecution wanted to know whether any juror knew General Vaughan or if any of their close friends or relatives knew him. None had a personal acquaintanceship.

The defense wanted to know whether any of the panel knew Senators McCarthy (R-Wis.) or Mundt (R-S.I.).

A grand jury accused Maragon last January of lying four times about business connections and financial affairs. Maragon was a witness at the Senate inquiry into activities of five percenter—men who represent others in dealings with the government for a cut that usually amounts to five per cent.

The talkative little Greek-American, who used to shine shoes in Kansas City and then became a man about town in Washington, has pleaded not guilty. If convicted, he could be jailed for two to 10 years on each count of the indictment—a maximum of 40.

First in today's proceedings were such preliminaries as selecting jurors and jury assistants. U. S. Attorney Charles B. Morris, in charge of the case for the government, said the prosecution would need about a week. Irvin Goldstein, Maragon's lawyer, said the defense also would require a week.

It was last July 28 that Maragon gave the Senate investigating committee the testimony behind closed doors—that now has him in trouble. Later on he appeared at a public hearing and refused to answer question after question on grounds he might incriminate himself.

But in the interval, other witnesses had told stories that varied widely from Maragon's account of personal affairs and business dealings with the government.

Vaughan Got Freezers

It developed among other things, that Vaughan had been given seven deep freezers for himself and friends by the Albert Valley Pottery Company of Chicago, which had Maragon on the payroll.

The investigators rebuked Vaughan later in a report President Truman asked by his military aide and kept him on the job.

Pulling Is Named To State Funeral Group by Hilleboe

Leland P. Pulling, Ellenville funeral director, has been appointed as a member of the new five-man advisory committee in funeral directing of the state department, by Dr. Herman G. Hilleboe, commissioner of the New York State Department of Health, it has been announced.

Pulling will serve as secretary of the newly appointed committee.

Duties of the group will be to counsel, advise and assist the health department in carrying out duties and responsibilities with respect to the funeral directing profession.

According to Dr. Hilleboe, the committee will meet at least once monthly with department heads. The first meeting was held Thursday with Dr. Hilleboe presiding in the morning session. Emanuel Bund, special counsel, presided at the afternoon meeting.

Pulling has served the New York State Funeral Directors Association as president for the last two years after serving on the executive committee for six years. He is past president of his local funeral directors association, the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors Association comprising the counties of Ulster, Sullivan and Greene.

He also is past president and secretary of the Noonday Club, trustee of the Ellenville Library, director of the First National Bank, lay leader and sub-district lay leader of his church. He also is active in local civic activities in Ellenville.

In addition to Pulling, others named on the five-man group were William Velkend of William Park, L. I. Schurman; Roy Merrill, Albion; Edward Allanson, Phoenix; and John Flynn, Yonkers.

Faces New Charge

Jellico, Tenn., April 17 (AP)—A trusty convict escaped from prison Saturday night, stole a truck and crashed it into a restaurant trying to hurt his wife who is divorcing him. His wife escaped injury. But an innocent bystander, P. L. Hill, 25, was fatally injured. Sheriff Rose Kitts identified the convict as Richard Rue, 40, serving a 10-year sentence for second degree murder. Rue was being considered for parole, but now the sheriff said, is charged with another murder.

HIGH COST OF VANDALISM

Somewhere in the course of our robust history we Americans decided that vandalism and petty stealing were just good sport. It is about time we realize that this lark costs individuals and taxpayers in general considerable sums of money.

Some people don't like to hear about this sort of thing, but how else can they be made to understand that it is absolutely wrong to destroy property, to rip, tear and take flowers and ornaments from other people's property, and to smash and otherwise damage dedicatory markers, monuments statues in parks and facilities in our playgrounds.

This work of vandalism amongst our people casts a very bad reflection upon them and presents a problem, but when vandalism is engaged in by grow-ups it is nothing short of criminal.

It is about this time of year that home owners in an endeavor to beautify their places expend money, time and energy in this direction. And it is also at this time of year that we begin to receive numerous complaints of willful destruction of property.

It's a most discouraging sight to withhold the vandal's imprint in our public parks, playgrounds and private places as well as cemeteries. They don't even stop at the desecration of graves.

This work of vandalism also may be seen on the highways. Take a look at the shot up, bent up, twisted up road signs. Aside from the waste of the taxpayers' money, these marauders' actions have caused highway fatalities.

Willful destruction of property is not condoned by law. And the cost of this senseless behavior comes home to everyone, including the thoughtless selfish individuals, in the shape of higher taxes, less highway safety for our money, and permanent ruin to irreplaceable scenic splendors.

When we stop these shameful acts, we will be on the way toward growing up. Right now the facts make us out to be pretty juvenile.

ART DISCOVERY

What was the outstanding event of 1950? Historians five centuries from now may have an unexpected answer. They might fix, for example, on the discovery of beautiful Byzantine mosaics concealed beneath plaster on the walls of the Santa Sophia and other Constantinople churches. This is the achievement of Thomas Whittemore, a Boston architect, who has been on his project since 1932.

It was a task indeed. One scaffold cost $15,000. To avoid trips up and down the long series of ladders every time tools and supplies were needed, a special laboratory was built on top of the scaffolding. Above all, the plaster must be removed without dislodging a single cube of the mosaic underneath.

The work still goes on. If funds are available, Whittemore hopes to complete the work in time for the celebration, to be held in 1953, of the 500th anniversary of the capture of Constantinople by the Turks.

Whether or not the task is completed, Whittemore can assure himself of the lasting fame that will come to one who has made permanent valuable additions to the stock of the world's beauty.

RADIO SILENCER

If all that is heard can be believed, Dr. Clyde I. Cornog of the University of Pennsylvania has a sure-fire invention. It is reported to be a gadget which can be attached to any radio, and which will respond to a sharp hand clap, a shouted command or similar abrupt signal by turning off the radio. After an interval it will turn the radio on again.

The gadget is suggested as a handy treatment for disagreeable program features which spring from the loudspeaker without warning. It can be set to keep silence for whatever period is usually occupied by a program item which may be the pet peeve of the owner.

There are some "bugs" to be ironed out. The inventor says it might sometimes be set

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A. O. K. E.

A meeting of the Order of Red-Baiters gathered in the home of Dr. J. B. Matthews for three purposes: 1, to eat his wonderful curry which he learned to cook in Java, while he was translating hymns into Malay; 2, to celebrate the publication of "Seeds of Treason" by de Toledano and Laskey; and 3, to listen, on the radio, to "Meet the Press."

When it came time to listen to "Meet the Press," we foregathered about the radio, with daggers up our sleeves, to await Miss Dorothy Kenyon, who reminds one of Eleanor Roosevelt before her voice was cured of its falsetto.

The first voice, after the interquitor, to come over was that of an honored member of the Ancient Order of Red-Baiters, Frank Waldrop of the Washington Times-Herald. And his first question was sharply pointed. He asked:

"Judge Kenyon, do you know one Alger Hiss?" That did it. They all got into the situation and literally tore her apart, for the lady admitted that she only knew what appeared in the New York Times. Her exact words were: "I'm well-informed as any other reader of the New York Times." So Waldrop said: "Can you tell us about Hiss?"

Mae Craig, of the Portland Press-Herald, tried to get a word in to ask how many front organizations Miss Kenyon belonged to. Senator McCarthy had said 28; Miss Kenyon said four or five. So at the solace of the Red-Baiters, we tried to figure it out. We got to a figure of 21. Maybe that was high, but we had been eating Dr. Matthews' curry. While all this was going on, Mae Craig started this colloquy:

"Craig: Well, when you found that your name was being used without your permission, or after you had withdrawn did you take any legal means to stop it? You're a lawyer so I presume."

Kenyon: Oh yes, yes.

Craig: What did you do legally to stop it?

Kenyon: Well, when I decided that I no longer wanted to be associated with those organizations, no longer wanted to be a sponsor, I told them so. I told them that I was withdrawing.

Craig: But, that didn't quite answer the question, did you do or take legal means to prevent it?"

One of the newspapermen on this quiz show is Larry Spivak, who can be a bad egg when he wants to. At any rate, on this particular occasion he asked some of the very worst questions which could be asked of a lady lawyer. I thought Larry was very unkind because he stripped the lady of the last vestige of an excuse. Look at this question by Larry Spivak:

"Miss Kenyon, in your testimony before the Senate you said, and I quote: 'I challenge and defy anyone to prove that I ever joined or sponsored or continued to identify myself with any organization or individual I knew or had reason to believe were subversive.' Now the out word there was 'I knew.' That's out, but shouldn't you have known . . . Is it enough for someone like you simply to say 'I didn't know the gun was loaded.'"

The lady could not answer. She withdrew and fished and wove, but she could not answer. She got all excited and wanted to stop Frank Waldrop, but Mae Craig brought her up to October, 1949; that is, long after the Cold War started.

Then Miss Kenyon faced Spivak again, which should not happen to an artful dodger. Read this: "Spivak: Well, now you said that you knew about them, that you didn't join them carelessly, that you knew all about them when you joined."

Kenyon: That's right. That's right. The ones that I did join and I'm telling you that there were only four or five of those, and that those were all in the early 1930's.

Spivak: Well, how did your name get on so many letterheads? I have photostats of more than half a dozen of them?

Kenyon: Well, I wish, I wish you could tell me, I'd like to know, Mr. Spivak, I'd be very happy to know.

Spivak: Well mine didn't get on any list, why did you join?"

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LONELINESS OF HOSPITAL PATIENTS

We all have a great deal of sympathy for the lonely children in various children's institutions. It is hard enough for men and women away from loved ones to have the days and nights pass in loneliness, but a little child without loved ones to comfort him brings an even sadder vision.

I have written before about the children's hospital in which the nurses "cuddled up" little children and babies. This soothed the little ones mentally and physically and helped them to eat and sleep peacefully.

That patients in various military hospitals are suffering loneliness was disclosed by a survey conducted by the psychiatry and neurology division of Veterans Administration. This was reported in "The Journal of the American Medical Association." Of 52,000 mental patients in V.A. hospitals, one-third have been visited by neither family nor friends for a year or more.

In one hospital only 219 of 785 patients had had a visitor during the previous year. While this seems a terrible neglect on the part of families and friends it is only too true that some veterans are better off without visitors because there is something, of which the rest of us know nothing, that causes disturbances when visitors and patient meet. I have written before of a boxer, who had been "knocked out" by blows to the head several times, whom I visited regularly for some years. I was about to get him discharged from the hospital. He took a job and did well for awhile but finally had to return to the hospital. When I made my next visit, although I was his only visitor, I disturbed him and the physician in charge of his case agreed that my visits would not help him.

Dr. Harvey J. Tompkins, chief of the psychiatry (behavior) and neurology (structure of brain and nerves) division states that while visitors might be disturbing in some instances, they would be highly beneficial to the patients in the majority of cases.

The thought then is that when family and friends do not visit a patient, for reasons best known to themselves, you and I would try to take away some of the loneliness of these unfortunates by trying to visit them regularly.

off by loud music coming from the radio itself, and it has to be admitted that sometimes the music gets loud. If there are neighbors who object to the radio, it is also possible that the silencing gadget might not distinguish infallibly between its master's voice and the neighbor's shouted "Turn it off!"

In a bitter argument you never like to take anything lying down. But sometimes it's awfully hard getting up.

The First Few Days Are Always Tough

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — With Congress facing an early election-year adjournment, one of the worst legislative log jams in history is piling up in the Senate and threatening to stall the Truman Fair Deal program.

Despite this mountain of unfinished work, however, Democratic leaders have found time to take up two bills completely contrary to the Fair Deal program—The Kerr National Gas bill and the Basing Point bill, driving loopholes in the antitrust laws.

As a result, some Republicans are thinking of reversing the tables on Truman and making a whistle-stop campaign of their own. They would use Truman's own speeches against the 80th Congress to attack the 81st Congress.

Disregarding the politics, however, here is the legislative outlook: Congress has less than four months to go before adjourning for the election campaign. Even now, senators and congressmen are slipping away to make campaign speeches.

Nevertheless, the Senate hasn't even called up the Civil Rights bill, the Appropriations bill, or tackled the complicated task of liberalizing the Social Security laws to include 12,000,000 new workers and increase the unemployment benefits.

The Brannan Farm Plan to support farm income and get rid of unmanageable food stockpiles, is bogged down in the Senate Agriculture Committee, while Herbert Hoover's 21 plans to streamline the federal government are getting nowhere fast.

Easter Vacation

This still leaves the President's controversial Health Insurance program, the Military Aid program, and Federal Aid to Education. The President also promised statehood to Hawaii and Alaska, but the hearings haven't even started in the Senate.

Congress must also decide whether to continue rent controls and renew the draft, to say nothing of revising the tax structure and abolishing excise taxes. Another tough one is the President's Point 4 program to give technical assistance to backward areas.

The blunt truth is Congress has a great deal to do, and little time to do it in. Meanwhile, the House, taking a leaf from the President's Key West book, took a leisurely Easter vacation, while both Houses took time to push two bills, aiding the natural gas companies and the big monopolies.

Forgot His Friend

There was only one sour note when freshman Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York took the floor to eulogize the late Franklin D. Roosevelt on the fifth anniversary of his death. Ironically, the sour note was struck by a Democrat who rode F.D.R.'s coattails to keep his seat in the Senate.

Republicans who were in the chamber—including Langer of North Dakota, Hendrickson of New Jersey, Gordon of Oregon, Schoeppe and Darby of Kansas—remained respectfully in their seats as Lehman began his memorial speech.

So did the Democrats, even crochety Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, who fought F.D.R. furiously on most issues.

The only man who walked out, rather than listen to a few kind words spoken for the man who once saved him from defeat, was Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

In 1938 when Thomas faced a desperate election battle in the Democratic primary, Franklin Roosevelt detoured his train through Oklahoma in answer to the chamber's plea from Thomas, the worried senator stand beside him on the back platform, and even made a statement about the fine work of "my friend" Elmer.

But when this same president's death was memorialized in the Senate last week, his "friend" Elmer walked out.

President Yields Something More for Policy Group to Worry About in Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 17—President Truman has just given the supporters of the "bipartisan" foreign policy idea in Congress something more to worry about.

Mr. Truman has chosen to announce that he intends to campaign on foreign policy issues in the autumn congressional elections. He said so at a meeting of a U. S. Commission to the United Nations. It was not only the wrong place for that kind of utterance, as politics is supposed to be taboo in international matters, but the pronouncement leaves an innuendo of criticism against the entire Republican party, including those who are supporting the administration's foreign policy.

The President made no difference. He did not say he would campaign for those Republican nominees who support the bipartisan or international concept. His own efforts and those of the Democratic National Committee which he directs will be centered, of course, on defeating all Republicans. The President spoke extemporaneously but the exact words used, as given out officially by the White House, are as follows:

"We have another program coming up that will be somewhat similar to that of 1948. This time we are trying to elect a Congress that believes in international cooperation, wholeheartedly—a Congress that believes the welfare of the United States demands a continuing foreign policy that takes into consideration the whole globe, instead of just one county or one district or one state."

Just what did the President mean when he referred to "this time" as contrasted with the 1948 election? Does he imply that he even the election of 1948 on the issue that his party alone believed in international cooperation? This will be news to Governor Dewey who all through the campaign kept John Foster Dulles at work trying to keep politics out of foreign policy.

Does it mean that Mr. Truman believes that only the Democrats deserve cabinet members who believe "wholeheartedly" in international cooperation? If so, this will be a surprise to Senator Vandenberg and Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and other eminent Republicans who have voted overwhelmingly in Congress for the Marshall Plan and other measures of international cooperation.

The speech by the President was made to the U. S. National Commission for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, known as UNESCO. Is the American Commission to be regarded as a group expected to use its influence in domestic politics? Should the President of the United States introduce party politics and discussion of campaign issues before such a body? Is it not likely to arouse the very partisanship which for the last few weeks prominent Republicans have been trying to eliminate from the discussion of foreign policy?

Mr. Truman may have unwittingly done a disservice to the cause of nonpartisanship in international affairs. What he said will encourage the numerically small element inside the Republican party who are isolationist at heart to endeavor to make political capital out of international cooperation. Unless he comes out for Republican candidates, he will have verified the charge that no matter what support an individual Republican gives to the administration's foreign policy—such as John Foster Dulles gave in the Senate last year—the Democratic Party leadership in the White House refuses to recognize such service in the only place where restraint has been urged, namely, in political contests.

The big question now being asked on Capitol Hill is this: When President Truman begins campaigning next month for the election of 1948, will he campaign on the issue of international cooperation—which is his right, of course—or will he base his partisan appeal on the platform laid down in his informal speech to the U. S. delegation to UNESCO? If he does, then the epithet on the grave of "bipartisan" foreign policy may have to be inscribed "Killed by the leader of the Democratic Party."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

As an inquisitive reporter with a snoot for facts I have been impressed by the windy vagueness of that sinister something—or nothing—called the syndicate and Frank Costello, slot machines and a total handful of some figure between four billion and five billion a year in the handbooks, the numbers and the slots. I believe nothing that is not proved to me. I don't believe the syndicate exists outside the imagination of a few cops-and-robbers reporters and some policemen and mayors who are either incompetent or crooked and invoke this evil haunt to excuse their failure to enforce the laws.

Although I have never met Frank Costello I freely concede that he exists and that he nominated and elected a judge of the New York Supreme Court which is actually a county court. I know that Frank Hogan, the prosecutor of New York county, has been building traps for him for years and devoutly hopes to put him in the clink some day. But, remembering Hogan's great success against Joe Fay, the union hoodlum, whom he sent up for a long term notwithstanding very strong political connections reaching right into the Department of Justice, I doubt that Costello is as sinister as he is reputed to be. Let me say also, that I have not been reached by the fixer who is doing Costello's public relations these days. I am not making character for Costello, but the horrible reputation that has been built around a hoodlum of by no means majestic size, in the absence of facts, is an imposition on public credulity.

At this hour President Truman is getting his jumps again over the fascinating coincidence of his pious convocation of federal, state and local law enforcement officials, and his cry to them for a great moral crusade against vice and crime with the abrupt termination of two of his own racketeers in Kansas City. I always enjoy Mr. Truman in his predicaments because he is such a coarse and obvious clown when he pretends to virtue.

"We must encourage education, religious instruction and home training in the family and in the guidance of our children," he said in the robe of a man with a great moral message. I noted, however, that when Mr. Truman in Kansas City, that our honored President was a full-member of a machine as rotten as anything that ever fouled the morals of St. Paul, St. Louis, New York, Chicago or Los Angeles. He was up to his eyes in the Pendergast administration and he fought like a terrier in the U. S. Senate to pry the filthy filigree of the old monarch's neck and keep Pendergast out of jail.

It was as much Truman's fault as any other man's in those days that the overall city government and the police department, which is supposed to enforce the laws against gambling, were so crooked that it was necessary to revive a corrupt federal law and refer it to the federal courts to break up the gang. Kansas City was then the widest open town that I have ever seen and the boss of the police department sent me out on four three nights running with a red-headed captain of detectives who was collecting the lug from the gambling houses. He took all the money and he showed me rolls of bills, one for his boss, who was shoving it along to Tom Pendergast, the other for himself, for he said "I am a young man and a chance like this may never come again."

We wound up one night about 7 a m outside a place where we had been singing patriotic airs to Questions - Answers So They Say...

Q—Who was the first president to make a tour of the United States by railroad?
A—Andrew Johnson, in 1866, was the first president to make a tour of the states by rail. This was the original "Swing Around the Circle."

Q—Do eclipses occur on other planets besides the earth?
A—Yes, other planets do have eclipses, as the shadows of their satellites pass across them, or as the satellites themselves enter the shadow of the planet. These can easily be observed on the planet Jupiter with a small telescope. If there were an observer on the surface of Jupiter, he could experience an eclipse of the sun as the shadows passed over him.

Q—How large are the giant claims found near the Great Barrier Reef?
A—Claims three feet long with a value spread of two feet, can rightfully be claimed giants among their tribe. These mammoth claims are abundant on Plexic Reef and at low tide hundreds of them, some weighing as much as 400 pounds, pose hazards to those exploring the reefs.

Q—Is the famous painting "The Spirit of '76" still in existence?
A—The original of this famous painting is in the hands of the Abbot Hall at Marblehead, Mass.

Q—Too Much Grass?
Sydney (AP)—Thick rich grass today covers millions of acres of sheep and cattle country of Eastern Australia. Soaking rain in the past few months has given sheep and cattle raisers in Queensland and New South Wales the best season for many years. Normally their trouble is shortage of feed for their stock. Today they have more grass than their sheep and cattle can eat. Some sheep men are paying high prices for cattle needed to keep down the grass on their properties.

Survey May Be Made

Washington, April 17 (AP)—A U. S. survey mission soon may be sent to strategically important Iran—now in the grip of an economic crisis and rising Red pressure. The big question: What, if anything, can America do? No on-the-spot study has been decided upon yet, it was said. However, Secretary of State Acheson is reported deeply concerned over the Iranian situation and has assigned it a high priority among the urgent problems under department consideration.

Mills, Gloversville Publisher, Succumbs

Gloversville, April 17—Edward H. Mills, 63, general manager of The Gloversville Morning Herald and Leader Republican, died Saturday. He also was vice president of the William B. Collins Company, which operates both papers.

Mills, a native of Gloversville, began his newspaper career in 1901 as a carrier for The Gloversville Evening Leader, which merged with The Johnstown Republican in 1912 and took over The Morning Herald in 1929.

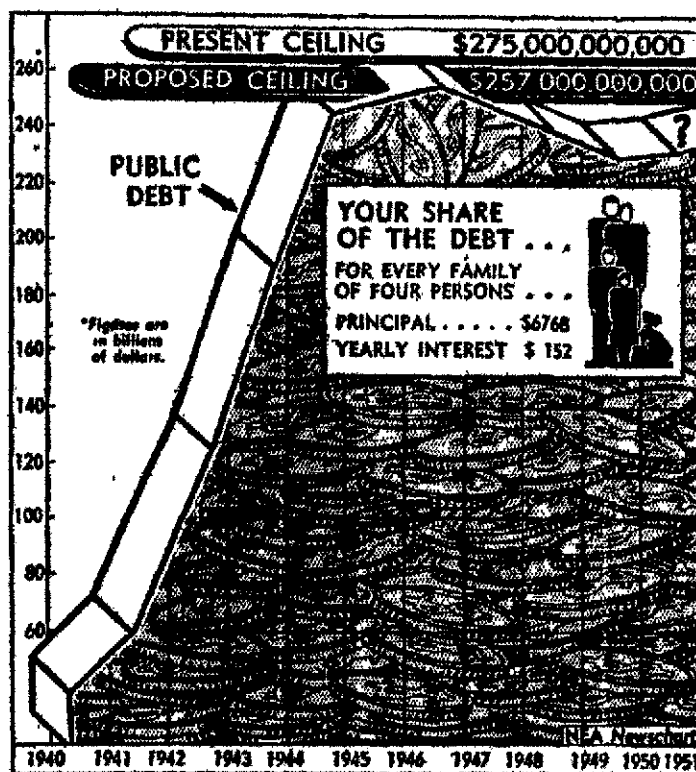

He was circulation, advertising and business manager in that order before succeeding the late F. L. Rogers as general manager in 1948.

Mills was a member of the New York State Publishers Association, a director and former president of the Boy Scout Council of Fulton, Montgomery and Hamilton counties and a director of the Fulton County Tuberculosis Association and the Gloversville Public Library.

He is survived by his wife, the former Edna Terry; two daughters, Mrs. Jay Vins and Mrs. William M. Kessler of Gloversville; and a son, Dr. Terry Mills of Southbridge, Mass.

Negro Singers Welcome

New York, April 17 (AP)—Negro singers are welcome at the Metropolitan Opera—If "the right voice for the right part" can be found—says Rudolf Bing, incoming general manager of the Met. No Negro singer ever has appeared in a Metropolitan Opera performance. Bing expressed his willingness to engage Negro singers yesterday in an interview over the Columbia Broadcasting System during an intermission of a concert by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. He said his "personal attitude" toward Negro singers was demonstrated in 1947 when he invited the Negro baritone, Todd Duncan, to give a recital at the Edinburgh festival. The festival then was under Bing's direction.

LOWER THE CEILING?—A group of House Republicans proposes a law to cut $18,000,000,000 off the legal national debt ceiling, now fixed at $275,000,000,000, in order "to force the Truman administration to come to its senses financially." The Newchart above shows how the national debt skyrocketed during the war years, fell slightly during early postwar years and is now on the rise again. On March 31, 1950, the actual debt was $256,622,574,315.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, April 17—The annual election of officers of the Plattekill Fire Department resulted in the following: Theodore Doski, chief engineer; Edmund F. Wager, first assistant; John Odell, second assistant; Nathaniel Daves, secretary; Earl Hasbrouck, financial secretary; Verward Wager, treasurer; Fred Ferrola, sergeant-at-arms; Harry Edler, cook.

District fire commissioners include Edward Newirth, chairman, Merton Jenkins, Verward Wager, Jerry Hughes, John Klein, secretary and treasurer; George Slat, Jr., president; and Marion Orlovski, vice-president.

Miss Joan Grismer has been selected to represent the Plattekill Grange as the apple blossom queen candidate.

A meeting of the officers and members of the building committee of the new fire house was held Tuesday night when plans were made for the resumption of the work, weather permitting. A contribution was taken for a donation to the cancer fund campaign, in memory of the late Mrs. Minta Odell, mother of John Odell.

Mr. and Mrs. Willet Deyo are ill at their home here.

At a recent meeting of the Plattekill Grange, an agricultural program was featured, with the following members participating: Milton Van Duser, speaking on fruit growing; James Wilkin, dairy farming; and Mrs. Marion Wood, gardening; and Mrs. Walter Kleaman, poultry industry.

Soloists were Joan Cook, James Leetch, Wilma Vandermark, Ralph Grismer, Mrs. Charles Franklyn, and Mrs. Marion Woods. Those in the tableaux, another feature of the entertaining program, were Arnold Wager, Albin Orlovski, Ralph Grismer, Jr., Rose Martin, Joan DeLapp, Ronald, Richard and James Leetch, Wilson and Chester Edmunds. A pantomime sketch was presented by the Rev. Mr. Woods, the Grismer family, Mrs. Lynwood Underhill, James Leetch, Wilma Scott, Beverly Walco, Ronald and Richard Leetch.

Mrs. James Leetch was in charge of the program. The final card party in a series conducted by the service and hospitality committee of the Grange was conducted Monday evening, April 10. On Wednesday evening, April 26, a supper and dance will be held at the hall, by the March and April committee.

Mrs. Ernest Waite and Miss Phyllis Faltbridge received awards for selling the most tickets to the play presented recently at the Grange Hall, "Dance of the Night."

Charles Thompson has returned to the University of Buffalo after spending the winter vacation at the home of his mother, Mrs. Beulah Thompson.

Khama Sees Ruth For 5 Days Only

Serowe, Bechuanaland, April 17 (AP)—Seretse Khama has come back to this mud hut tribal capital for a five-day visit with his white wife and his fellow African Bamangwato tribesmen, who want him to be their chief.

The British Government, which has banished the young chief-designate from the reservation, allowed Seretse to return until Friday. His London-born wife, the former Ruth Williams, is waiting there to have their baby in June. She refused to leave the tribal reservation where she has lived since last December.

Under the watchful eyes of armed police reinforcements Seretse's tribesmen gathered from miles around to greet him yesterday. But British authorities have told him he must not pow-wow with them about his chieftainship.

London officials denied his five-year "exile" was ordered because of Seretse's marriage to a white girl. They said, however, her presence has caused unrest and hostility among some tribesmen.

Seretse was permitted to come only to see his wife and to clear up personal business.

Ruth ran down the dusty road at midnight to meet her husband as he drove in a truck from Lobatse, 300 miles away.

The former London typist has rejected a British offer of medical attention during her coming confinement. She said she was "full of confidence" in her present Negro physician.

Seretse will be permitted to return for the birth of the child.

13 Persons Killed

Tel Aviv, Israel, April 17 (AP)—Police reported today 13 persons were killed and 30 injured when a four-story building collapsed last night in Jaffa. Twenty-five others are missing. The building, which housed some 80 persons, was occupied by families of ex-servicemen from the Israeli army. It was originally two stories high but previous owners added two more floors.

Two Are Injured At Top of Viaduct

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision at the top of the Washington avenue viaduct Sunday night.

A report at 8:30 p. m. by Officers Clarence Steddes and George Loughran said a sedan operated north over the viaduct by John J. Boice, 33 Ridge street, was in collision with one driven by George P. Mahoney, 7 Rogers street, headed south.

Mary Palmer, of Catskill suffered a bruised leg and Edward Palmer, of the same place, a slight injury of the forehead.

Both cars were towed from the scene and the report said the Mahoney car struck the viaduct guard rail. A lantern was placed at the damaged section of the rail by workmen of the public works department.

Record Public Payroll

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Of every 1,000 Americans, 40 are on a federal, state or local public payroll. And that doesn't include members of the armed forces. The Census Bureau said in reporting that figure yesterday that the to-(al number) of public employees in October was at a record 4,201,000. Their pay for that month was $1,106,000,000.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

Folks have asked me, if we have had a "Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" organization here? I know nothing about present date, but have items before me about the annual meeting held March, 1931, when the late Mayor Walter P. Cane was elected president of the "Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals." He filled the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Amos Van Etten, who had served as president of the organization since 1908. Mr. Cane had been vice president for a number of years previous to his 1931 election as president. Elmer Palen, the famous local horseman, was elected vice president and Ward B. Everett was re-elected treasurer. Some of the directors at the time were: Raphael Cohen, Dr. Harold Clarke, Frank B. Matthews and Mrs. John N. Cordts. Who knows more about this organization?

The youngsters have asked me, "Say something about the sleigh-loads of long ago." According to H. L. Van Deusen, who used to write "At Century's Turn" and very often mentioned the old sleigh-loads parties, in his August 26, 1942 column and Peter Hamilton, who operated a livery stable at Ann and Mill streets in the 1880's, built a sleigh which would hold about eight passengers. According to his records this was the first sleigh of its kind and it became so popular that a larger one was built to carry 24 passengers and it was named John T. Hoffman. Peter Hamilton used six horses to draw the sleigh. Those were the days when a ride to the Red House on the Saugerties road for a chicken dinner and dance was a social as well as a financial affair to raise money for many charitable societies. Whatever happened to these sleighs afterwards? They certainly would make museum items, if the museum was large enough to house them.

Who remembers the White Swan sleigh which was designed by George Parish, father of Arthur Parish, grandfather of Arthur Parish who had a livery stable at Broadway and Pierpont street. Now I'd like to see a good photo of it. I bet it was handsome. They went in for decorations and scroll work in those days when they had orchid color hook and ladders and sky-blue step-ladders for the fire department. There was also the "George Washington" sleigh. Clubs, such as The Mannechoi, the Colonial and Sporting Club each had its own sleigh which was rented out during winter months to sleigh-riding parties. Who remembers some funny incidents on these rides, like caught in a blizzard.

Looking through some old items on dates, I see this coming July, 1950, Dr. Joseph Jacobson will celebrate his 25th year since he opened his office on Stuyvesant street. Also 25 years ago, on April 15, 1925, Kingston's zoning ordinance went into effect. Mayor Morris Block appointed Judge A. T. Clearwater, Judge John G. Van Etten, J. Graham Rose, George E. Lowe and Dr. S. T. Levitas as the city's first zoning board of appeals.

Just the other day someone asked me about the old "Long House" at West Pierpont street.

The old building was purchased by St. Peter's Church on May 11, 1916 and was later demolished. The site is used for playground purposes.

Aerial Search Abandoned

Copenhagen, Denmark, April 17 (AP)—The big aerial search for the U. S. Navy patrol bomber which disappeared mysteriously over the Baltic Sea with ten men aboard was abandoned today. The only possible clue to the fate of the plane, last heard from a week ago last Saturday at the same time the Russians said their fighters exchanged shots with an American bomber over Latvia was a yellow life raft found yesterday floating in the sea. The life raft, its food containers empty, was found by the little British freighter Beechland about 45 miles east of Stockholm, Sweden. The spot is 200 miles north of the Latvian city of Lepaya (Libau) where the Soviets say their fighters chased off a U. S. bomber.

As Pegler Sees It

the piano music of a young lady who was a refugee by way of Havana. She could play cross-handed licks to beat all hell and my friend, the captain, had sent a police car to roust her out of town and fetch her down to play for us when the regular piano player got stiff and fell off the stool about 3 a. m. At 7 o'clock we piled into the cold, sooty winter air and that faceless nonentity, the good old common man and a few sorrowful, snuffling females of the same tribe, who had been electing Truman's gang for years, were only mildly surprised when my guide heaved out a great big revolver that should have had wheels under it, and wangled away at the knob on one of those classics of the stone-cutter's art, a Grecian urn with towel, on the corner of the cornice of the joint. "I never did like them damn knobs and them damn slot-jacks now," said my friend, who came from Oklahoma, he fired his pickles at the knob and stone-dust and splinters flew, but when he was done by the dawn's early light that knob was still there. His name was Red something and last year some of my friends of the Saddle and Sirolo told me he had passed on, which sorrowed me truly for he was a mischievous celt with just the proper mental attitude toward the world, and Truman regime and the spinelike plasmids who let themselves get caught by petty factors from precinct leaders.

"Where was I?"

I was about to say that there was nothing wrong in Kansas City that Harry S. Truman couldn't have cured if he had had a mind to. Missouri has plenty of laws of her own. So has she now and so have Miami, Fla., and all the other cities which are supposed to be writing in the coils of the syndicate.

I have never seen one slot machine in New York in all my years. The reason has been that the local cops had free authority to knock them off. All that is necessary anywhere is the disposition of the local government to enforce laws already on the books.

We don't need any Senate investigation of vice and crime, including gambling, and the time and money which are about to be devoted to this fraud will be wasted. The Democrats will be covering up in the home town and headquarters of their chief and Bill Boyle, the chairman of their national committee, The Republicans will be flustered and frustrated. This is just low-down petty politics and not proper business for the Senate.

"Four to ten billions a year" of turnover on hand-books, numbers and the slots? Says who? Where is that balance-sheet? First thing to do about that is to stop selling hop to editorial writers.

Jobs for Graduates

By FRANK TRIPP

The biggest crop of college graduates of all time this June will plunge into a cruel world, ready to take over the presidency of General Motors. The worry is will they get jobs at all.

The crop has been growing ever since the little red schoolhouse ceased to be the highest institution of learning for nine tenths of the American people. It started when every man who had no college education decided that his children should have one, come hell or high water.

The joker in this picture is bound up in the question, "what is an education?"—plus the inability of even the most highly educated to answer it for anyone but himself.

Take the case of Mike Gorman and his boy. Mike had a steady though inconspicuous job at the gas works. There were a great many things that Mike and his wife would have enjoyed owning. For instance Mrs. Gorman would have enjoyed an electric washing machine in place of the old-fashioned backbreaking hand model in which she did her own and six other family washings. Mike wasn't coveting a Cadillac but if he could have afforded a bicycle he wouldn't have had to walk to work.

The reason for it all was that Mike and his good wife had a boy, Tommy, who was uncommonly bright in school. Added to that, Tommy was a handsome brute, was an athlete and popular. It cost quite a lot to keep Tommy going in the strata of school activity where his popularity let him travel.

WELL, ANYWAY, the Gormans decided that the best in the world was none too good for Tommy. They did what most parents do—sacrificed all for him. Up to this point in Tommy's story, the Gormans will have the sympathy and approval of the commonwealth. From this point on there are two schools of thought—and statistics fail to prove just where the useful effect of universal higher education ends and bad effect begins.

When Tommy finished high school he had two or three chances to take promising jobs with substantial concerns. Tommy wanted to go to work. He was a sound and good boy, he saw the plight of his parents and felt it his duty to aid them; more than that, to become immediately productive was his desire. He didn't want to go to college.

But Mike Gorman was a stubborn Irishman and he dominated Tommy. He drove him to college. Mike drudged on, his wife too. Scarcely a luxury and few conveniences of the improving standards of living were enjoyed by either of them. They put Tommy through college against his will—and they almost ruined him.

Tommy came out. He didn't cum laude—he just came. By this time Mike and the missus had a different Tommy on their hands. The enthusiasm for work which Tommy took to college with him had given way to a notion that somewhere out in the world was a bonanza that was just waiting for him to get through school. Tommy was up in the clouds.

MIKE TRIED to find out what Tommy got out of college, but the poor kid couldn't tell him because he wasn't completely sure himself. Mike couldn't comprehend what prestige meant. He did know what opportunity meant. So when Fall came and Tommy's "opportunity" hadn't turned up yet the old man boldly suggested that he forget his schoolin' and look for a job.

That was when Tommy went back to see the people who wanted to hire him when he got through high school. One of his high school pals was assistant manager by now.

Well, yes, maybe they could make a place for him. Things were changed, but they thought it might be arranged. They mentioned the wages.

"Oh, I wouldn't think of going to work for that," said Tommy. "Isn't a degree worth anything?"

"Not around here," they told him. "You'll have to go where they hire degrees. We only hire hustlers, then help 'em up the ladder."

Thus it went on till Tommy finally gave up trying to sell his college education and took a crack at a gasoline station. He never hung his diploma in it but he did get to own it; did right well, and bought his mom a washing machine.

The economists, theorists and worriers see thousands of idle graduates as a perplexing unemployment problem. Maybe it would help if they drop a bug in the lads' ears that they start to work for what they're worth at jobs that are waiting to be done—and try to make the education click later.

Ills Exaggerated

Denver (AP)—He probably is in for some arguments, but Dr. Robert B. Patterson of Loveland, Colo., thinks the harmful physical effect of high altitudes are greatly exaggerated—at least for the kind of altitudes Colorado has. Writing in the Rocky Mountain Medical Journal, Dr. Patterson listed mineral oil, sunburn lotion and hard candy as the only medicines a normal flatlander needs to offset symptoms of altitude here. The mineral oil should be used to lubricate dried nasal passages, lotion to guard against sunburn which comes with deceptive swiftness in the rarified air, and the hard candy to prevent throat dryness. But he had a word of warning for those not in the best of health. They should beware of reacting to the braising mountain air by indulging in excessive exercise.

World Traveler Is Guest Speaker At Dinner Club

PHILIP CUMMINGS
Philip Cummings, world traveler who has hobnobbed with kings, peasants and businessmen in the four corners of the globe, will be guest speaker tomorrow night at a meeting of the Dinner Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Cummings will analyze domestic and foreign affairs on the basis of his observation of political, social and economic conditions in 27 different countries.

Born in Vermont and educated at Rollins and Middlebury colleges, Cummings, who is now in France, and the University of Madrid, Cummings believes his real education began with his experiences in the 1931 revolution in Spain.

Because of his knowledge of the South Pacific, he was appointed consultant to the U. S. government during the war.

His adventures have developed for him an objectivity that surmounts party lines and even national boundaries, said a spokesman for the Dinner Club. "This not only makes his opinions interesting but also of definite value to us in understanding the various countries of the world."

Caldwell-DeWitt
Miss Florence DeWitt, daughter of Fred DeWitt of Ellenville, and John Caldwell of Spring Glen were married at the Ellenville Methodist Church Easter Sunday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Elmer Cates. They will make their home on the Greenfield road.

Spivakovsky Motors To Kingston; Ready For Recital Tonight

Tosky Spivakovsky, eminent violin virtuoso, will motor up from New York today for his recital at Kingston High School tonight in the Community Concerts series.

Kingston will be the 52nd city to hear him on this season's transcontinental tour. He has been hailed by critics from coast to coast. The concert begins at 8:30 p. m.

Alliance Gospel Church Will Present Nyack Choral Group

The Nyack Chorus from the Missionary Training Institute of Nyack-on-Hudson, N. Y., will present a sacred Music Concert at Kingston Municipal Auditorium Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The Nyack Chorus has been featured on several occasions in Carnegie Hall and is now on a Sacred Music Concert Tour of North America with Dr. Lee Olson, conductor of the chorus and director of the Nyack School of Sacred Music.

The colorful program will include Negro spirituals, anthems, and historic church hymns in choral form. Two of Dr. Olson's original compositions, "To the Seventh Beyond," and "The Seventh Beyond," will be presented. Selections from the Messiah and Elijah will also be given.

Dr. Thomas Moseley, president of the school and former pioneer missionary to West China, will speak briefly regarding the present program and future of the Institute. A male quartet and brass trio will travel with the chorus and will be featured in the program.

The Missionary Training Institute is America's first Bible school and with a student body of over five hundred is one of the largest theological schools in the East. Scattered throughout the United States and in many foreign countries, over nine thousand of its alumni have gone to serve some thirty-five Protestant denominations.

Norma Jean Wood Weds Robert Haener

Miss Norma Jean Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wood of Wawarsing, and Robert Haener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Haener, Sr. of Ellenville, were married at the home of the bride Easter Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Doris E. Fritts, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church. Mrs. Haener is a graduate of Kenilworth High School and has a position with Rosenstock's in Ellenville.

Mr. Haener attended Ellenville schools, served three years with the U. S. Navy and now is employed with the Channel Master Corp. They will make their home in Wawarsing.

Recent Bride

Mrs. Robert Carl Gulnick, who, before her wedding, was Mary Bernice Jagerty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Haggetty of 115 S. Manor avenue, was married Easter Sunday in St. Joseph's Church. After a reception at the Barn for 100 guests, they left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gulnick, 31 Lindsay avenue. (Sterling Photo)

Miss Anna Marie Qualtere Marries John James McGowan at St. Mary's

Anna Marie Qualtere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Qualtere, 11 Abbeil street, was married Saturday to John James McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGowan, 9 Downs street, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church.

Msgr. Martin J. Drury officiated. The wedding took place at the 10 o'clock Mass.

Theodore Riccobono was organist and Angelo Corrado sang "Pavane Angelicus," "Ave Maria" and "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy." The church was decorated with Easter lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with Mandarin-style neckline, long pointed sleeves, and cathedral train. Her imported French illusion veil fell from a white satin crown. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and sweetpeas.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Everett Walton, 51 West Union street, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Geraldine Bailey, and Miss Theresa McGowan, sister of the groom. They were dressed alike in Empire gowns of Nile green taffeta, styled with square necks, puff sleeves and full skirts with trains. They wore matching Nile green hats in poke bonnet style, and carried shower bouquets of yellow roses and ivy.

A flower girl, Miss Kathleen Bradley, niece of the groom, carried a period bouquet of mixed flowers, and wore a Nile green taffeta dress matching those of the other attendants.

Kenneth McGowan, 6 Downs street, brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Donald McGowan, another brother, and Everett Walton, brother-in-law of the bride.

William McGowan, nephew of the groom was ringbearer on Tommy's Restaurant on High street for 150 guests, the couple left for a wedding trip to New York and Washington, D. C.

For traveling the bride wore a melon-colored suit with black accessories. After their return, the couple will live at 11 Abbeil street.

Chaplain's Experiences To Be Described For Baptist Couples Club

The Rev. Nelson C. Munson, interim pastor of the First Baptist Church, will talk on his experiences as a chaplain with the Air Corps for 51 months, during the second world war at a meeting of the church Couples Club Thursday.

The meeting will follow a covered-dash supper to be served at 6:30 p. m.

"The Chaplain Remembers" will be the title of the address. Mr. Munson was first assigned to the Western Flying Training Command at Gardner Field, Teft, Calif., and Stockton, Calif. Later he was transferred to the Air Transport Command and was with the North African Division as post chaplain at Tunis, Dakar and Casablanca.

He was placed on the retired list in 1947 after hospitalization of more than a year. He now holds the rank of major, Honorary Reserve, Retired. He has been serving as interim pastor of the church since December, 1949.

He will discuss the work of a chaplain and its relationship to the individual officer or enlisted man, his experiences as a patient, and a trip to Palestine.

Roger Baer and a group of his pupils will entertain the gathering. All couples and friends of the church were cordially invited to attend, and were asked to bring a covered dish.

The program committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Huston, Mrs. Bertha Ellison and John Van Nostrand. The supper committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Powell, and the Rev. and Mrs. Walter White.

Pretty Virginia, a blonde, is a delegate from the Montgomery Giance. She works in Newburgh. Here in Ulster County, we choose our Queen this coming Friday night at a dance at the municipal auditorium.

Concert Is Presented By Advanced Students Of Miss Schmidt-konz

A very large and most appreciative audience greeted the advanced students of Lina M. Schmidt-konz on Friday evening, April 14, at 8:30 in the high school auditorium.

The following program was rendered:
Serenata Op. 15, No. 1 (2 pianos, 8 hands) M. Moszkowski
Piano I—Janet Hulton, Kathleen Netter, Piano II—Una Schaefer, Betsy Empringham

(a) Ave Maria Johann S. Bach
(b) Solfeggietto Karl P. E. Bach
Lary Glustino

(a) To Spring E. Grieg
(b) Butterfly E. Grieg
Ramona Leonard

(a) Concerto in A Minor—Second Movement E. Grieg
(b) Minuet De L'Arlésienne G. Bizet
Piano I—Roy Boldt

Piano II—Robert Cooper
Sonata Pathétique, Grave—Allegro Molto E Conbrio L. Van Beethoven
Gita Weinrauch

Rondo Capriccioso F. Mendelssohn
Rosemarie Halbig

Nocturne in F Sharp Major E. Chopin
Waltz in E Minor E. Chopin
Ruth Behrens

(a) Liebeslieder, Waltzes No. 6 and 4 Brahms
(b) Concerto Scene (from Boris Godunov) Moussorgsky
(With the bells ringing and priests chanting, Boris is crowned Czar of Russia)

Piano I—Robert Cooper
Piano II—Roy Boldt

In the opening number for two pianos, eight hands, there was perfect synchronization as well as clear interpretation.

The piano solos which followed were played with remarkable technique and musical understanding. All participants showed extraordinary poise and assurance.

Two former students of Miss Schmidt-konz, the duo pianists Roy Boldt, now at New York University, New York city, and Robert Cooper, now of Crane School of Music, Potsdam, N. Y., gave a masterly performance of their numbers. They climaxed the program with a brilliant and finished rendition of Moussorgsky's Coronation March. As a encore they played a Chinese selection.

At the close of the program, Miss Schmidt-konz presented Miss American Beauty roses.

Following the concert the young musicians were entertained at Judy's by Miss Schmidt-konz.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TRAVEL COURTESY

A mother writes of her son's experiences as follows: "He thought he could buy a magazine on the train but no one came through selling them. After awhile the woman in front of him put down a magazine on the seat next to her. Whereupon he got up, excused himself and asked her whether she'd mind if he read it. Can you imagine his chagrin to have her answer, 'Yes, I would mind!'? This brings up the question of whether on trains it is permissible to ask a fellow passenger for the loan of a magazine."

Her answer certainly was not polite but neither was your son in asking a stranger for her magazine. On the other hand, it often happens that someone having several magazines and finishing one offers it to a near-by passenger who has none.

Second Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: My engagement was to be announced a year ago. Invitations were sent at that time to a large party at which it was to be announced. But these were called off as the engagement was broken almost immediately. Of course, most of my friends know. Now I'm going to become engaged again to another man. Would it be in bad taste to send out similar invitations? Most of the guests would be the same people, of course.

Answer: I think it would be best to announce the engagement first in the papers. Later there might be a party given in honor of the engagement. In other words, I wouldn't duplicate the first proceedings exactly.

Toast at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to be called upon to give the toast at a wedding reception. The bride is a young relative of mine whom I love dearly. I'd like very much to do this nicely and would appreciate your telling me exactly what my remarks should be on this occasion.

Answer: You are not supposed to make a speech. Merely get up and, after attracting everyone's attention, propose that they drink to the happiness of your beloved Alice and her beloved John. Or any similar sentiment.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, she has written lastly E-1, "Announcing the Engagement," in which she explains how to make public announcement of your engagement. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

HOME BUREAU

Family Life Sessions

Plans are now under way for representatives of Home Bureau family life and child study clubs to attend a three-day conference on family life at the New York State College of Home Economics, Ithaca, April 25-27.

The subject matter to be covered this year deals with the various stages of development that take place normally in the family in the course of the years, the problems and joys of each stage. These stages are the beginning family, the expanding family and the contracting family.

New methods of conducting discussions, films, records and reading materials will be presented to the representatives.

Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, sponsor of Child Development and Family Life on the executive committee, will represent the Ulster County Home Bureau.

Aims of Bureau

Saving money for homemakers and learning to make the most of what you have are the aims of the Ulster County Home Bureau. These principles were carried out recently at a training school in children's clothing. Eleven leaders were present for the two and one-half days of training. Dresses, sunsuits, overalls, and nightgowns were made by the leaders. Some used material from out-grown garments, others used left over materials and a few used new materials. They found that they saved a great deal of money and used materials that might otherwise be discarded.

Leaders attending the training school were Mrs. Margaret Lamb and Mrs. Virginia Lamb from the Sargent's Evening Unit; Mrs. John Dykstra, Hurley, Mrs. Irene Latimer, Accord; Mrs. Laura Christiana and Mrs. Norma Klipple, Kerhonkson; Mrs. Edward Scherer, Kingston; Mrs. Elizabeth Teetzel and Mrs. Edith Ziegler, Quarryville; Mrs. Mildred Hommel and Mrs. Marion Pearson, Saxton.

Kingston Day Unit

The Day Unit of the Kingston Home Bureau met Thursday at the unit's rooms, 410 Broadway. Prior to the business meeting, the group went to the Tumor Clinic and heard a short talk on cancer by Mrs. H. P. Van Wagenen. Slides showing the various phases of the disease also were shown. Mrs. Van Wagenen stressed the point that most cases of cancer can be cured or pain alleviated if detected in time. Later, the Day Unit members were conducted on a tour of the clinic.

The first class in refinishing of furniture will be held Thursday, April 20 at the Home Bureau rooms from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Members are requested to bring the following supplies: furniture with finish removed and completely repaired, newspapers, six by 10 garnet finishing paper, fine and medium steel wool, block of wood, ¾ by 3 by 4½, cloths without lint, three small glass dishes or jars. Members also will bring their lunch. Mrs. Charles A. Reis will be the leader.

Phillips-Jindrick Troth Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Jindrick of Kingston announce the engagement of their daughter, Edyth M. Jindrick, to Rodney A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Phillips of Rifton.

Miss Jindrick is a graduate of Kingston High School and is a bookkeeper for the Kingston Trust Company. Mr. Phillips is also a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed in Ashley Welding Machine Iron Co., Inc. He served two and a half years in the Naval Air Force.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Card Parties

Choir Mothers

Choir Mothers of the First Dutch Church will hold a dessert bridge Tuesday, April 18, at 8 p. m., in the Church House, 52 Main street. For reservations, call Mrs. J. H. Haukenbeek, 5482.

Holy Name

The Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Church will hold their second annual card party tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the school hall, Delaware avenue. Refreshments will be served, and the public is invited.

Rifton School Auxiliary

The Rifton School Auxiliary will hold a card and game party April 20 at 8:15 p. m. in the Rifton First Hall.

Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary

The Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary will hold a dessert card party Wednesday, at 1:30 p. m., at the Y.M.C.A., it was announced. Mrs. Marie Gunther is chairman. Persons wishing reservations were asked to telephone Mrs. Clarence Corell (1128-R) or Mrs. Louis Schaefer (1129-R).

Compact Amplifier

A recently developed voice magnifier system for use for public address and similar purposes consists only of a hand microphone, a loudspeaker horn and a six-volt battery.

D.A.R. Will Open 59th Parley Tonight

Washington, April 17 (AP)—Delegates representing the 167,000 members of the Daughters of the American Revolution will open the D.A.R.'s 59th Continental Congress tonight.

A message from President Truman will be among the greetings for the 4,000 delegates and alternates and some 2,000 other members expected to attend.

The high point of the week-long meeting will be the election of officers who will guide the affairs of the patriotic society for the coming three years. The main race is to elect a successor to Mrs. Roscoe O'Byrne of Brookville, Ind., as president general.

Two complete states, one headed by Mrs. Edwin Stanton Lammer of Dallas, Tex., and the other by Mrs. James B. Patton of Columbus, O., are already in the field—and the outcome of the campaign is anybody's guess. The voting is Thursday.

A Mr. Vernon N. Y. woman, Mrs. George Andrew Kuhn, is running for curator general on Mrs. Patton's slate.

Woman Is Injured Entering Own Car

Mrs. Julia Klass, of Albany avenue extension, was injured Sunday morning in an accident near Lipton's store, 549 Albany avenue.

The report at 10 a. m. said a car operated by Albert Kiersted, Jr., of Lawrenceville street, was going out of the yard of the store into Wrentham street when it "failed to straighten out" and it made a turn and it struck the Klass sedan.

Mrs. Klass was entering the car at the time and suffered a slight laceration and bruises of the left leg. She was treated by a doctor.

Colonials Drop First Exhibition Contest to Brooklyn Bushwicks, 8-2

Murray's Three Hits Soften Initial Loss

Smith Avenue Storage's 2408 Leads Kingston Teams

Woodhaven, L. I., April 16—Gerald Murray's robust hitting and excellent relief pitching stints by John Manopoli and Glenn Underwood were the consoling factors in the Kingston Colonials' 8 to 2 defeat by the Bushwicks before 5,000 fans today.

The Class B tossers strayed over from their Lakewood N. J., training base for their first outing of the season.

Murray, a holdover from 1949 and a player likely to be a stand-out this season if his legs hold up, connected for three solid singles in four trips to the plate and drove in Kingston's second tally in the sixth inning.

Murray was the only player on either side to collect more than a single safely. The losers matched the Bushwicks' eight-hit total but showed less frugality in bunting than the winners.

Relief Hurters Shine

Manopoli and Underwood combined to check the Bushwicks with two hits and a run in the last four frames after Bob Kunze and Leon Coumes had been touched for seven runs and seven hits in the first four frames.

Underwood is the former Poughkeepsie Chief scout, who flashed streaks of greatness last season, but was generally hampered by wildness. Manopoli is a highly regarded rookie.

The Colonials picked up their two runs in the sixth inning off Joe Millans on Harvey Porter's double, an infield out, a walk by Charlie Aspermeier and run producing singles by Frank Merola and Murray.

Al Gerard, hard hitting Kingston center fielder, went hitless but drew two walks in four trips to the plate.

Vincent Gleason, big right hander who was scheduled to start for Kingston, was unable to make an appearance because of illness.

Bows Fans Six

Al Zachary, former Montreal Royal right hander, pitched hitless ball for four innings for the Bushwicks and received credit for the victory.

Gene Bowe, minor league veteran, who pitched the last three innings for the home club, struck out six of the nine batters to face him.

It was the second victory of the season for the Bushwicks, who seemed too far advanced of the season squad in playing condition.

High Scores Flourish in A.B.C. Tournament

Columbus, O., April 17 (AP)—This American Bowling Congress tournament has 58 days to go after Sunday's second-day firing, but already it looks like the scores will be fancy.

The scoring Sunday, first day for minor events, was unusual for so early in the tournament.

Four teams went over 2700—Ainlie's Five of Johnson City N. Y., doing 2719 for fourth place; Bill's Five of Elmira, N. Y., leads with 2802.

John Strobel of Milwaukee took three first in the minor events—helped greatly in the doubles by Carl Ray. Strobel's 1947 in the all-events is nothing to be sneezed at. He shot 575 with the team, 593 in the doubles and 679 in the singles.

That singles total ranks first. Games of 249-254-206 turned the trick. His box score in the two-man:

Carl Ray ... 226 222 225—673
John Strobel 160 198 237—593

Grayson to Speak

Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor will address the annual Father-Son Night sponsored by the Saugerties Lions Club tonight at the P.V.I. at 6:30.

Has Great Record

DANNY CUNHA

Siena College, of Loudonville, just outside of Albany, has developed into one of the best known "small schools" in intercollegiate basketball under the skillful piloting of Coach Danny Cunha.

The Indians finished the 1949-50 season with its finest record in history, 21 wins and 5 losses, and the National Catholic Intercollegiate title, beating Providence, Loras and St. Francis of Brooklyn in succession.

Cunha, former Notre Dame graduate and a professional basketball and basketball player in the upstate area, will be the principal speaker at the Kingston Athletic Association's Father and Son Night on Wednesday, April 19, at the club headquarters.

Members of the Kingston Boys' Club will be guests of the K.A.A. that night.

Demaret Pockets Fulton Open Swag

Atlanta, April 17 (AP)—After matching through Georgia, Jimmy Demaret headed today for Virginia and another skirmish in his bid to capture Sam Snead, the top golf money winner of the year.

Jimmy, who unlike most professional golfers enjoys living when he isn't winning, finished a minor grand slam in Georgia yesterday with a victory in the North Fulton Open.

He shot four rounds at the tough one-day event—the next strokes—14 under par. His winning final round in 66 princely strokes followed by just eight quick days a far greater victory at the Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Late this week the happy Texas fishman with the friendly name gets his next shot at catching Snead in the money winning marathon during the Cavalier tournament at Virginia Beach.

In the past nine days Jimmy has closed the gap considerably on Snead. Prize winnings for the winner circuit now stand at $15,128 for Snead the money minded.

'BIRDIE' TEBBETTS AND FIANCEE

Boston Red Sox Catcher George Birdie Tebbetts, 35, and Miss Mary Hainett, 27, of Burlington, Vt., secretary for former governor of Vermont, pose in Boston after their engagement was announced by Miss Hainett's parents Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hainett of Burlington. No date for the wedding has been set. (A.P. Wirephoto)

Bruce Edwards, Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, scores as Yankees Catcher Yogi Berra takes throw from Outfielder Joe DiMaggio in third inning of their exhibition game at Yankee Stadium. Edwards tagged up at third and scored after DiMaggio caught Dodger Outfielder George Shuba's fly. Watching play is Dodger Outfielder Jim Russell (48). Yanks won, 4-2.

Weishaupt Pounds 731 Triple With Games of 239, 244, 248

Fires Huge Triple Against Met Squad

Larry Weishaupt continued his sensational scoring spree Saturday night with a brilliant 731 series as the Adirondack Trailways trounced the V. Loria Sons of the Metropolitan Major League, 3048 to 2897, before a large crowd at the Bowldrome.

In smashing his second "700" series in two weeks, Weishaupt was superbly steady with scores of 239, 244 and 248. He had 30 clean frames and a couple of "taps" between strikes in the third game deprived him of a much larger series.

He recently posted 718 for a new season's record in the Bowldrome Major.

Johnny Ferraro shot 612 and Harold Broskie 602 for the Trailways, who maintained their 1000-team average of the last several weeks.

The locals hit for games of 1012, 1019 and 1017. The Lorias totaled 2897.

Benny McNevech, Staten Island individual champion, anchored the Lorias with a 667 series.

Week-End Sports

Palm Beach, Fla.—Miss Judy Cornell of Portland, Ore., captured the 100-yard breaststroke event in 1:12.6 as eight other national records were broken in the A.A.U. senior women's indoor championships.

Toronto—Detroit blanked New York, 4 to 0, to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven final Stanley Cup series.

St. Paul, Minn.—Minnesota gained a 3-1 edge on Syracuse in their best-of-seven final NBA playoff with a 77-69 victory over the Nationals.

Mountainair from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and $13,216 16 for Demaret.

Bowling

Newburgh won the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp's district bowling championship by beating out Poughkeepsie, Kingston and the General Office and Catskill in that order.

Class B honors went to the Poughkeepsie General Office, with Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Beacon, Catskill and Kingston following in that order.

Individual honors went to James Beare of Catskill with 185 (Class A) and William Edgar of Poughkeepsie, 173, (Class B).

High single awards were won by Oscar Green of Poughkeepsie with 238 (Class A); and Robert Vache of Catskill with 222 (Class B).

"Pop" Green of Newburgh took down high three laurels with 580 Newburgh rolled 984 for the highest team score.

CHICHELSKY'S CHATTER

Bowling fans raved about the beautiful hook ball tossed by Frances Priola the former Frances Kasimir, of Syracuse. The New Process Gear squad was practically the same one which rolled the first 2700 series in local women's history, in an exhibition match against the crack Kaye Sportswear team a few years back.

Mary Kite Sr., mother of Mary Garofola of the Process outfit, rolled a 620, if we recall correctly. She died a few years ago.

One of the top women bowlers of all time. Thanks to the many leagues who supported us in the K.B.A. elections. The Dutchess Rec 100% handicap tournament attracted 168 teams, 11 from Kingston. Manne's Barbours have two teams entered. Quiz of the week. How many regular teams does the K.W.B.A. have entered in the state tournament? The answer to last week's Quiz. American Bowling and Billiards won today's year's team event in the state tournament with 2870 New Process Gears hold the all-time record of 2896 rolled in 1939.

Katrine Club Plans Skeet Challenges

The Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club has organized a skeet team for inter-city and inter-club competition this season, Joe Zeek announced today.

The Katrine sharpshooters are willing to engage teams in a 100-mile radius on a home and home or any other basis, he said. Zeek also announced that a night shooting program that should be of great interest to the public is being arranged. Further details will be announced.

Big Ten To Bar TV Of Football Games

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—The powerful Big Ten, whose athletic policies usually keynote the trend for the nation's other major conferences has barred live television of all its 1950 football games.

In the first concerted move to prohibit on-the-spot video, the Big Ten concluded that the en-

Schatzel and Markle Fail in All-Events

Kingston's topnotch women's bowling squads tried gallantly but futilely to land on the standing board in the state women's tournament last night before a packed house at the Bowldrome.

Smith Avenue Storage, Colonial Women's League champions, made a strong finish with an 884 game, to rack up the best series of 2408. It should be worth a small chunk of the prize money.

Francis Pounds 567

Evelyn Francis was the individual star of the night, firing games of 161, 185 and 221 for a 567 series. Evelyn Gross packed a 212 and 491.

Ferraro's Bowl-O-Ettes were next with 2384, Eleanor Singer leading with 530. Gardenale Tractor shot 2344 as Dot Rawling furnished 525; and Safford & Scudder knocked off 2215.

In the E shooting Jones Darl-Ettes posted the best total of 2228, well off the pace. Cuneo's rolled 2128. Bernard Contractors had 2087, Perry's Taxi 2064, and Pardee's Insurance 1897. In the only Class C shooting, Garraghan's hit 2049.

Beverly Markle and Rose Schatzel both failed in their attempts to oust Mary Garofola of Syracuse in the all-events race. Miss Markle who had 1140 going in shot 474, while Mrs. Schatzel could do no better than 468.

Syracuse Bowlers Hot

Syracuse bowlers made changes in three divisions in the Class A shooting. Mary Garofola, better known in state bowling circles as Mary Kite, Jr., ousted Marion Hilderbrand of Schenectady by a single pin for the all-events lead with a nine-game total of 1646. She posted 559 in the team event, 587 doubles and 500 singles.

Mrs. Garofola's Pounded 1140. Price of Syracuse's Pounded 1140 to roll in first place in the A doubles. I. Simpson and P. Notaro of Angola had 114 for second place.

Helen Gresius of Syracuse is the new Class A singles leader with 591 on games of 197, 173 and 221.

The Chester Heights quintet of Mount Vernon took over the lead in the Class B team event with 2408, posting games of 841, 787 and 778. Dot Rock sparked the Westchester aggregation with a 355 series on games of 217, 162 and 176. Wilcox Paper of Syracuse shot 2341 for fourth in the B event and Strand Beauty Salon of Albany was sixth with 2305.

R. Perry of Catskill moved into fourth place in singles with 532 and F. Donovan of Syracuse was fifth with 531. Three changes in the Class C singles saw H. Saric of Mechanicville and S. Stanulwich of Beacon hit 502 to tie for third and E. Eberhardt of Middletown hit 491 for fifth place.

Good A Singles

Class A singles produced some good shooting. Frances Priola, Syracuse, cracked 218-560; Virginia Bottorff, Syracuse, had 218-570 and was third in the all-events with 1605. Helen Gresius 591 (Class A lead) and 1578 all-events for fourth position.

LaVelle 531. Betty Greene, Albany 214-568; Mrs. Garofola posted 214-587 and Frances Priola 553 for the top A tandem of 1140 on sets of 380, 388 and 372. Ida Simpson hit 213-572 and Phyllis Notaro 203-542 for the second place 1114.

Loretta Rogus and Virginia Bottorff, Syracuse, shot 381, 361, 345 for 1087.

The leaders in all divisions.

Take First Trick In Right Place

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Any habitual reader of this column might come to the conclusion that the fate of every contract depended upon declarer's play to the first trick. It is certainly true that the right play to the first trick means smooth sailing later on in a surprising number of hands.

In today's hand, for example, North cannot make his contract if he wins the first trick with the jack of hearts. South having bid hearts, it might be difficult for declarer to determine whether East's opening heart lead is fourth best or a short suit. East may have elected to lead through dum-

Armed Forces Seek Applesauce for Men

Washington, April 17 (AP)—The armed forces are shopping for 5,649,000 pounds of applesauce.

The army quartermaster corps, which is doing the buying, estimated today that is the annual applesauce craving of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

Other anticipated appetites from the 1950 fruit and vegetable pack include 10,447,000 pounds of peaches, 12,855,000 pounds of tomato juice, 8,495,000 pounds of tomatoes, 7,576,000 pounds of catsup, 9,597,000 pounds of corn, and 7,774,000 pounds of string beans.

Roth's Art Class To Have Exhibit

An exhibit of art work by members of the class of Harry Roth will open at the Kingston Library Tuesday, April 18.

Between 45 and 50 paintings will be hung on the main and lower floors of the library. The paintings are the work of 13 area residents who have been studying under Roth every Tuesday night at the library for more than a year.

Roth, who maintains a summer residence at Sawkill, has his studio in New York City. He is the author of "At Pencil's Point." He will be present on the opening night of the exhibit and after 8:30 p. m. will give a short talk in which he will introduce the artists and explain their work.

Members of the class who will exhibit include Ellen Dubin, Irma Dudyk, Evelyn Esposito, Margaret Goetzke, Capt. Andrew S. Hickey, Martha Melrowitz, Elymore Rubin, Gerhard Schneider, Marguerite L. Soper, Katherine Weeks, Paula M. Wiese, Elaine Siller and Harriet H. Zeinick.

The paintings will be in the reference room to the left of the main entrance and in the downstairs lecture room. For entrance to the exhibit after the closing time of the library reading room at 8:30 p. m., the door underneath the main front stairway will be open.

The exhibit is staged with the concurrence and permission of the library's board of directors.

Molyneux to Aid Disability Group

New York, April 14 — Mary Donlon, chairman of the New York State Workmen's Compensation Board, today announced the appointment of Abram F. Molyneux of Kingston as field representative for the new state disability benefits program.

Field representatives will furnish information and assistance concerning the Disability Benefits Law. Their services will be available to employers, employees, groups, organizations and others affected by the law. Employers are obligated to provide disability benefits for all their employees by July 1 of this year, when the new law becomes fully effective.

During the next three weeks, Miss Donlon announced, field representatives will attend a training institute in Albany and New York before actively beginning their work assignments.

U. S. Railroads Still Threatened by Strike

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—The threatened strike of 110,000 locomotive firemen and engineers still hangs heavy over the nation's railroads.

The union, demanding a third crew member on multiple-unit diesel engines, called in more of its officers for further executive committee talks today (11:30 a. m.) on strike action.

A spokesman said at the conclusion of yesterday's session that the committee has been considering whether the walkout, if called, should be against all railroads or only those using the largest number of diesel locomotives.

The union, having exhausted all legal mediation requirements, is at liberty to call a strike at any time.

Husbands Blamed For Sterility in Majority of Cases

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

(A. P. Science Editor)
New York, April 17 (AP)—Husbands are at fault two-thirds of the time in sterile marriages, says a new book, "Human Fertility and Problems of the Male."

And, the book adds, only about 40 percent of American men are fully fertile.

The author is Edmond J. Harris, Ph.D., executive director, Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology, Philadelphia. It is published by the Author's Press, Inc., White Plains, N. Y.

It is a fallacy, the book says, to believe that most men are fertile and that women usually are responsible for infertility.

The number of sterile American couples is more than five million. To this both husbands and wives contribute. The degree of infertility may vary in either man or woman. If one partner has very high fertility, that may overbalance low fertility in the mate.

The number of men or women who are absolutely and incurably sterile is small. The degrees of fertility do not vary from person to person, but may rise or fall in the same individual from time to time.

No Simple Package

Medical treatment can do much to overcome infertility, regardless of which partner is at fault. But there is no such thing as buying the means of fertility in a store. The couple has to go to an experienced doctor, and the treatment may take months, or longer. There is no one cause of sterility and no single treatment. Each case is different.

Frequent intercourse is not a sign of fertility in a man, and the book says it can even render a man sub-fertile.

Normal women are not fertile, as commonly believed, for several days each month, but only from six to twelve hours in seven out of every eight months.

Emotion is not a factor in sterility among men.

Potential fertility is not greatest in young persons. Instead, fertility is relatively constant throughout the fertile period of life.

There is no remote relationship, the book says, between fertility and physical appearance.

Does potential fertility decrease with increasing education? "A small, pilot sample," says the book, "suggests the opposite may be true."

Settlement Nears In Chrysler Strike

Detroit, April 17 (AP)—The door seemed opened today for an early settlement of the costly, 83-day Chrysler strike.

Optimism prevailed although the C.I.O. United Auto Workers rejected yesterday what Chrysler Corp. termed its "final" offer in the stubborn pension dispute.

As negotiations resumed (10 a. m.) today, observers pointed out that none of the six objections the U.A.W. listed were vital issues. They also said it seemed probable Chrysler would be willing to rework parts of its proposal to get a settlement.

One thing appeared certain—that in principle the two sides are closer than at any time since 89,000 Chrysler workers walked off their jobs, Jan. 25.

U.A.W. President Walter P. Reuther underlined that point when he said after yesterday's offer:

"We are glad that at this date Chrysler has finally agreed to provide pensions for their workers guaranteed by a sound pension trust fund."

The means of financing $100-a-month pension for workers who are 65 years of age and have 25 years' service has been the nub of the dispute.

Halls Own Proposal

Chrysler described its proposal, which gives the U.A.W. a choice of three pension systems, "the best pension and insurance offer that any large company in the automotive industry has ever offered the union."

In any of the three plans, Chrysler would pay pensions of $100 a month, including Social Security.

The U.A.W. rejection brought charges from Corporation Vice President Herman L. Weickler that "union purposes which have nothing to do with the declared strike objectives" have prolonged the strike.

"One fact seems unmistakably clear," Weickler added. "This strike cannot be for sound pension and insurance benefits. Those are on the table."

Tito Victory Certain In Trieste Election

Koper, Zone B, Yugoslav-controlled territory of Trieste, April 17 (AP)—The people of this Yugoslav-occupied area outside the Adriatic port of Trieste yesterday voted for the first time since the war for their local leaders. Victory for the supporters of Premier Marshal Tito was certain.

In a pouring rain some 65,000 eligible electors—men and women over 18—cast ballots for candidates for 150 council seats. Results probably will be announced later.

In contrast to voting inside Yugoslav proper, some Socialists and Christian Front Democrat candidates ran on tickets opposing the Communist-dominated People's Front.

There appeared little spontaneous enthusiasm for the election and there were no reported incidents of violence.

40 Japanese Go Home 'Before U.S., Russia Go to War'

Tokyo, April 17 (AP)—Forty Japanese generals returned home today from Siberia, "happy to be back in Japan before war starts between the United States and the U.S.S.R."

Maj. Gen. Hanjirō Iketani, former chief of staff of the Kwangtung Third Army, said most felt "it is only a matter of time" before the shooting war starts.

Government controlled newspapers in Siberia and Russia depict Soviet Russia as a lover of peace, he said. They blame the United States for increased world tension.

The generals were among 1,600 repatriates landed at Maizuru.

Iketani said he spent most of his captivity at Khabarovsk, east of Manchuria in Siberia. There are 37 other generals at the camp, he said, and another 37 at Nakhodka awaiting repatriation.

Twenty-one died at Khabarovsk, Iketani said. Ten are serving prison terms.

Today's arrival raised to more than 6,000 the number of Japanese prisoners repatriated since Russia announced last fall that she didn't have any more. American and Japanese authorities charged later the Russians still had not accounted for more than 37,000.

After these charges the Russians said nothing, just began sending back an occasional shipload.

Love, Elopement Are Answer to Why Girl Disappeared

New York, April 17 UP—A northern climax to a tropic romance looked like the answer today for police searching for beautiful 18-year-old Joyce Green—vanished daughter of a chain store millionaire.
She eloped from her fashionable finishing school Friday with Juan Gonzalez Cuevas, a 22-year-old Cuban she met on a summer cruise last year.
Cuevas, son of a Miami, Fla., transit executive, is a pursuer on the Green Line ship Santa Rosa. Miss Green, a tall, dark and statuesque beauty, is the daughter of H. L. Green, head of the national chain of Green Variety Stores.
New York police got the romantic story from two of Cuevas' friends picked up in their Manhattan apartment. They are George Mendez, 22, and Jose Antonio Saurez, 19.
Both admitted helping the elopement and said they stayed with the couple from the time

Miss Green left the Stoneleigh-Prescott Hill School at Greenfield, Mass., until they saw them last at Great Neck, Long Island, on Saturday night.
The couple had not yet married, they said.
The Cubans said they drove Cuevas' new automobile to the school Friday and picked up Miss Green.
They said they then drove to Brattleboro, Vt., where the girl wired her mother, Mrs. Harold L. Green, that she was going to get married. Police said Saurez told them they then drove to Troy, Schenectady and Albany, N. Y. The couple planned to marry in Albany, he said, but found the license bureau closed.
They all returned to New York city, and Saurez and Mendez said they saw the couple last on Saturday night.
Police released the two young men on the understanding they would communicate any new information to authorities.
Miss Green's father, H. L. Green, is head of the national chain of Green Variety Stores. He lives at the Hotel Pierre here and has a home in a suburb of New-town, Fairfield county, Conn.
Cuevas' father is Octavio Cuevas, secretary-treasurer of the Miami Transit Co. and Miami Beach Railway Co.
Last night at Miami he said he had had a call from the son, saying he planned to "marry a girl from Connecticut."
"I am very much in love with her, Dad. She's a nice girl from a good family and you'll like her," the son said.

Youth, 18, Causes

questioning both youths that Mayr originally planned to have Pagan shoot him three times—twice in the calf of the leg and once in the thigh.
At first Pagan was reluctant, but Mayr insisted, the investigators said.
Mayr placed himself against a tree and pointed to the spot on his leg where he wanted Pagan to hit him, according to the investigation report. Mayr then raised his hands so his fingers would not be hit, turned his back to Pagan, and the gun was fired, Belmore said.
After one shot, Mayr reportedly cried, "Don't shoot any more."
Pagan put the rifle in its case and hid it down a steep bank near the scene of the shooting, the official report continued. Then, he tied a tourniquet above Mayr's wound and went to seek help, the report stated.
The boys first told authorities that an unidentified person had hit Mayr with a stray bullet, but the authorities became suspicious because the wound was such that it would have been caused by a gun fired at close range, Belmore reported. After questioning of both youths, the story of the emergency room date and the "ordered" shooting came out, Belmore claimed.

Following the investigation, Pagan was taken before Justice of the Peace F. E. Palen and charged with violation of Section 831, Subdivision 2, of the Penal Law, "aiming a firearm at a person."
Pagan was ordered held for grand jury action on the charge, which is an indictable misdemeanor. He was subsequently released on $1,000 bail to await the grand jury action.
